

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A signal detector is provided in which correlation analyses of multiple segments of a received signal from separate and distinct periods of time are combined to improve the detection capability of the signal detector. In one embodiment, the signal detector is part of a GPS receiver.

5